

PROMOTION NUMBER

THE COUNCIL OF THE BOW
WINNIPESAUKEE

MAY, 1922

WHAT TO DO IN JUNE.

N O W

1. Fill out those pre-camp questionnaires and return them at once to your state leader or to the International office.

2. Check up on your prescription, and finish all your requirements this month.

3. Get a copy of the Go-getter and read it right away. It will take just about a half hour. It will be the best half hour you have spent in many a day.

4. Call a meeting of the outstanding older boys and girls of your Sunday School and make definite plans for keeping up the morals of the intermediate and senior departments of your Sunday School during the summer months.

5. For those who did not do this last month, we urge you to go to the library and get a copy of Arnold Bennet's "How to live on Twenty Four Hours a Day," read it and write Minisino your come back. A lot of you fell down in this last month, hence the "repeat."

CONFERENCE POINT GRADUATES AT GENEVA GLEN.

There will be a fine bunch of Lake Geneva graduates on hand to help blaze the trails in the new camp in the Rockies. The following have already lined up: For the Girls' Camp, "Saxie"—Ruth Palmer, Octavia Johnson, Lois Wiersema, Hilda Britnell, Dorothy Nichols, and Catherine G. Whitmore. For the Boys' Camp: Donald Danforth, Johnson Neff, Clarence Wright, George Q. Downes, Hugh Watson, and a bunch of others who are trying to arrange their plans to enable them to make the trip.

All of the 1921 graduates have been given their choice of going to Conference Point or the new camp. Any graduate prior to 1921 who desires to go to any of the camps this year should write at once to the International Office and reserve a place. Address your letter to Wadjepi, 1516 Mallery Building, Chicago.

says:

The day has come for the elimination of the inefficient. Eliminate 'em, hang 'em, guillotine 'em—I don't want the inefficient in my establishment. Whoever heard of that word "inefficient" connected with a great leader? Listen, you leaders, eliminate everything that has any resemblance to inefficiency.

DOINGS OF THE ALUMNI.

Martha Whitlock, 1914, will be graduated from Wisconsin on June 14 and on the 17th will sail from Montreal for ten weeks in Europe. The trip is for pleasure but the little group of five or six friends in the party are planning to make a study of religious and industrial conditions to be used as a background for similar work in this country.

Ruth Young, 1916, is also going abroad this summer. Full details are lacking, but you can just bet your hat that Ruth will get some good fun out of her trip. How? How?

Hayden Stright will be graduated from Boston University next month and will spend the summer in Minneapolis, heading the Vacation Bible School work for the Minneapolis Sunday School Association.

Esther I. Williams graduates from Goucher College and will go into full time association work.

Jack Taylor will be graduated from McMaster College, Toronto, and will give his full time to the work of religious education.

Si Mack will be graduated from the University of California and is looking forward to full time work in the young people's division of a State Sunday School Association.

FINANCING THE CAMPS.

Nearly thirty thousand dollars have been expended by the International Association for the educational program of the Camp Conference, during the eight years that the camps have been in operation. The campers have not been asked to pay one dollar of this amount.

The money that the camper pays for his board and lodging goes to the camp management and has nothing whatever to do with the program of the camp. It is up to the association to find the necessary funds to carry on the extensive program features for which the camps are famous; old campers and leaders know what this means.

This year, we will need six thousand dollars in addition to what is now in sight to take care of the six camps, two in New Hampshire, two in the Rockies and two at Conference Point.

We have faith to believe that the money will be forthcoming, but we all need to help. Old campers and leaders, we know, will be glad to hear of the needs of Geneva and lend their aid. Contributions for any amount will be received. Checks and money orders should be made out to P. G. Orwig. Prompt action is desired.

Old camper, did you hand that letter to your father or mother? Please follow this up. It is exceedingly important.

PRESCRIPTIONS

Prescription camper, you have had your memory jogged in every issue of Conference Pointers since the close of last summer's camps. Camp days are approaching now at a rapid rate. Winnepesaukee boys' camp will get underway in just forty-five days from the day this is written and the other camps follow right along. Get out that prescription and check up. Every 1921 camper, without any exception, whether you are coming back to camp or not, should have his prescription filled before the first of the 1922 camps get underway.

Check up and measure up. Live up to Geneva traditions. When you have filled your prescription send it in at once to Daddy Waite, he's waiting for it.

Read "What to Do in June," as given on the second page of this issue, then do it.

KINJI'S COLUMN.

Denver, Colo., May 12.

Wadjepi handed me a slip with the records of the various class funds for my personal information. I want to share that slip with you.

The totals of the various classes spell our growth as Camp Conferences. Only two classes are recordless. (Please, page the Crusaders and Patriots.)

Cost of building material and the increased prices for goods have kept us so far from investing these funds in memorials. It would have been foolish to spend these precious dollars on inflated markets, but we are getting back to normal times and soon all the classes may point with pride to their part in the Camp Conference equipment.

Some day, we hope in Tipi-Wakan at Conference Point and in similar places at Geneva Point and Geneva Glen to have tablets bearing the name of every camper, with special provision for all graduates.

The deeds of the classes will also be inscribed that all may know the unity and purpose of our common zeal.

I am looking at the snow-covered Rocky Mountains as I write these words, and as I gaze upon the backbone of a continent, I cannot help but pray that the Camp Conference influences may become the spines of steady, enduring Christian effort for youth and the church. Eternal things are quiet, steady things, worked out in the workshop of the years. Our Camp Conferences are of such growth. Campers and comrades, let us build together that kindom foundations may be enlarged.

Ed. Note: As the class funds come in they are promptly invested in order that the fund of each class may become just that much larger. If you have not yet paid your pledge, won't you attend to this at once and get it cleaned up before comping time comes.

THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN CAMP.

The new camp in the Rockies is going to be a wonder. For some years the directors of the camps and training schools have been looking forward to the establishment of a camp that would be built especially to meet the needs of the Camp Conferences and training school. This dream is being realized in the new camp in Colorado. The camp is being built "from the ground up" according to the specifications of the Geneva Glen Committee, which means that in this camp things will be located just as we want them. It is needless to say that the new camp will be exceedingly attractive and convenient.

The writer has before him a set of blue prints showing the layout of the camp, and the plans for the buildings and equipment. If you have a good imagination, he will try to visualize the camp as he "gets it," from the blue prints.

Imagine eighty acres of mountain land in a natural amphitheatre, including the sides of two mountains, with access to thirty-two hundred acres for hiking and mountain-climbing, a mountain stream, Geneva Creek, flowing down through the meadow into Parmalee Creek, which runs across the base of the property, and you have the topography of the camp. There are seven mountain peaks on the entire property.

Now, imagine a road running around the base of the amphitheatre, starting and ending at Parmalee Creek. Got it? To the extreme left of the road, and on both sides are the mountain cabins, four rooms to a cabin. There are two large cabins, with fireplaces and reception rooms. Continue up the road, and across the apex of the triangular amphitheatre you will find in succession the store, office, and back in the rear, the ground helps' cabin, and a bit further on the combination assembly hall and dining room, which, by the way, is going to be great. The same entry will be used for the dining room and assembly hall; turning to the left to go into the former, and to the right for the assembly hall. The latter will have a stage and dressing rooms which will make possible real dramatic effort on the part of the campers. Much more could be said in description of this building but you will have to see it to appreciate it.

Keep on going down the road, around the bend, and you will come to the class room cabins, and there you have it.

The cabins will all be built in stucco finish, with red rubberoid roof; no two cabins will be alike. The blue print calls for a short tower on the assembly hall and in the tower can be seen a bell, which one could wish were a set of chimes. May be the "bell" will be chimes; here's hoping.

Say, you lucky Geneva Glen Camper, aren't you glad you are going to be one of the pioneers in the new camp? And the rest of you, don't you wish you were going, too? But cheer up; you know every graduate has a chance to come back to camp as a leader, so you may all look forward to the day when you will get to Geneva Glen to spend two wonderful weeks in the land of mountains and sky.

PRE CAMP QUESTIONNAIRES.

If you are on the accepted list of campers from your state you will receive a set of cards, which you are to have filled out, in detail, and returned at once to your state leader, or to the International Office as may be directed in your letter. This is important and should be given immediate attention. The questionnaires bear on the camper's home, school or work, and church relationships, and will have a very definite bearing on the standing of the campers in the individual grading in the camps. An accurate record is required; the questionnaires are short and may be filled out by any adults that the camper may select.

MISSOURI LEADS IN ROCKY MOUNTAIN REGISTRATIONS.

There is no such thing as stopping a Missouri mule when once that mule gets it into his head that he is going somewhere, and particularly when he knows where that somewhere is. "Up and at 'em, mates," is the motto of the Missouri bunch. Witness, please, the fact that Missouri leads all other states in the number of campers registered for the new camp at Geneva Glen. At this writing, there are twelve Missouri fellows and thirteen girls registered and Wichada and Lottie May say they have just begun.

Not to be outdone by Missouri, Kansas has tossed her hat in the ring and wants the world to know that when the Boys' Camp opens at Geneva Glen, and later the Girls' Camps, the Sunflower State will be right there with a big delegation—bigger than Missouri, mayhap. Kansas is right on Missouri's heels, with nine boys and eight girls registered.

What does I-O-Way, boys? Our friend Herbie says he'll answer that question when the camps get under way at Geneva Glen, and he'll answer it with the quantity and quality of his delegates at both camps. Iowa is headed Rocky Mountain-ward, and at this writing there are eight girls and one boy registered for the Geneva Glen with several more to come.

Nebraska also is on the alert and is planning good delegations. Texas writes "We'll have at least five girls in the Girls' Camp. And we haven't said a word as yet about Colorado, the hostess state, but you can depend upon Colorado to have a top-notch delegation. They simply will not permit the other states to beat them, particularly this first year, so we're off to a fine start. Registrations should be sent in just as fast as they are received in the state offices. Applications will be accepted in the order received, until the camp is filled. The states that profit are the ones that get their registrations in first.

Low Railroad Rates to the Rockies.

The railroad rates to Denver are exceedingly low this year. Campers in some sections of Iowa and Missouri are able to go to the camp for less money than it costs to go to Geneva. For example, the return fare from Kansas City to Denver is $26.50; from Des Moines, Iowa, $28.65; from Dallas, Texas, $40.00; from Hannibal, Mo., $32.45; and there are correspondingly low rates from other points. These attractive rates will make it possible for delegates to attend the camp at Geneva Glen from a wide range of territory in the West and it also affords campers the opportunity of a sight-seeing and camping trip at a comparatively low cost.

WINNIPESAUKEE PROSPECTS.

Maine to the Front.

Last year the two "Maniac" delegates in the Girls' Camp at Winnepesaukee said, "We are going to have a real delegation next year," and they are surely making good. Under the leadership of their aggressive State Secretary, Mr. E. H. Brewster, the Maine campers have already registered eight girls and two boys for this summer's camps and they say these are not nearly through. Here's to Maine!

Connecticut Shows Speed.

Connecticut is rising up in her might and has declared that the state shall be on hand this year with good delegations in the Winnepesaukee camps. There are now five girls registered.

Massachusetts Tops the New England States.

with fourteen boys and twenty-eight girls already registered and more applications coming in every day. It looks as though Massachusetts will have the largest delegations at Winnepesaukee of any of the New England States. Massachusetts now holds the state trophy for the Boys' Camp, and they have their eyes on the girls' trophy this year, and they'll get it, too, providing, of course, they beat Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, etc.

Pennsylvania and New York Have Large Delegations.

As usual, the Keystone Staters will be on hand with a big bunch in each camp at Winnepesaukee, and they will make that old dining room ring with "Hail, Penn-syl-va-ni-a- la-la-la-la-la-la-la," remember? And our friend Peter from New York is keeping the mails hot with registrations from New York and "good ones," too, says Peter, and that really means "good."

New Jersey's Big Year.

Since last summer, New Jersey has had a "tower of strength" added to their state staff in the person of Henry R. Bowen, the State Young People's Division Superintendent, and from the way applications are coming in from the "skeeter state, it looks as if Jersey is going to be much in evidence in this year's camps. There are already fourteen girls registered. The boys are coming along, too, and Mr. Bowen hopes for a good delegation.

Maryland—West Virginia—Ohio.

All of these states will have good delegations in the Winnepesaukee Camps. Maryland, in particular, is looming up aggressively under the leadership of State Superintendent Cudlipp. "Hobe" Hill and Mary Schroeder are stirring up things in West Virginia and Alice May is lining up a high-grade group from Ohio.

It's going to be a great year.

Rhode Island on Deck.

Mr. Rice, the General Secretary of Rhode Island, assures us that he will have a good delegation in each camp at Winnepesaukee. Three boys are registered and more are coming.

New Hampshire's Big Spurt.

With nine girls and one boy already registered from New Hampshire the hostess state of the Winnepesaukee Camp will be very much in evidence this summer, particularly in the Girls' Camp.

BEACONS.

It is a good name, and the class of 1921 are living up to the full meaning of their name. They are Beacons in every sense of the word. If ever a class has kept the "Geneva Spirit" alive between camps, this class has done it. Always at it, up and coming, on the alert, brimful of enthusiasm and good spirit—this class is making a great name for itself in camp history. Their class fund is nearing the six hundred dollar mark, and remember, this is just their first year. During the year, the members of the class have been keeping in touch with each other through the circulation of a series of "Round Robin" letters. The Beacons are out to break all records and if they keep up their pace, they will at least hang their record so high that it will be considered a "big thing" to beat the Beacons. Keep together, Beacons; come back this year in full force, and make up your minds to come to your graduation year with the biggest graduating class in the history of the camp conferences. You have a fine chance to hang up a record that will stand through the years. Go to it.

OBERLIN STUDENT NOTES.

We Winnepesaukee people at Oberlin have been climbing so many peaks of distinction and clamoring through so many tin-can alleys toward Phi Beta, that we slept through the rising bell which pealed out to us from Chicago. However, having now had our morning dip in the lake of knowledge, we submit ourselves for inspection.

At-ten-shun!

Class of '25.

Mary Ela has made a splendid beginning by making the "Freshman Tenth" in Oberlin, an honor for scholarship. She has her numerals for playing on the hockey and baseball teams and sings in the United choir.

Ruth Jones is coming ahead in athletics and is secretary of the Freshman Class.

"Dottie" Raymond has the secretaryship of the Girls' Field Association, and has her class numerals for being on her class basket ball team. She also has successfully passed the life saving test given to the physical training majors. Dottie shines, besides being one of the Freshman Ten.

"Ted" Campbell has entered right into school life and is on the Foreign Students' Committee in Y. M. C. A. He also teaches Bible class in the Hy Y of Elyria, Ohio.

Class of '24.

Brookie (Eleanor Brooks) has her class numerals for hiking and has adopted a little sister at the Children's Home. Brookie has been at both Geneva and Winnepesaukee.

Ruth and Virginia Crossen, besides their help in Y. W., are teaching Sunday School classes.

"Brownie" (Gertrude Cheney) has a little sister at the Children's Home, too. She sings in the United choir and is a member of Musical Union. She is working, by hiking for class numerals.

Class of '22.

Phoebe Schaper has just joined our ranks this year, coming from Washington University, Mo. She is in the choir and Musical Union as well as being on the Visitation Committee for Children's Home. Phoebe also has a prominent part in the commencement play for this year.

Last, but not least—Frank Mayer is captain of the track team. He is on the Court of Seven and President of the Senate in Oberlin College.

CHECK UP ON YOUR CAMP OUTFIT.

Here is a list of suggested articles to take with you to camp. The big point is, don't load yourself down with a lot of unnecessary equipment that you will never use. These are outdoor camps, and not "dress-up parades." Provide one good outfit for Sunday wear and your traveling clothes, and the rest "camp togs."

And, DON'T bring a trunk unless you want to pile up trouble for yourself. A couple of suit-cases will fix you up for all the equipment you will need. If you desire you can parcel post some of your stuff direct to camp, and save lugging it along with you. Of course, if you are planning an extended trip, of which the camp period is a part, then you and your trunk are welcome, but eliminate the trunk unless absolutely necessary.

General List: Swimming suit, stockings, handkerchiefs, comb and brush, tooth brush and paste, Bible (American Revised), cheerful disposition, flannel nightgown or pajamas, needle, thread, pins, twine, buttons, safety pins, old shoes, comic costume, sweater or jersey, rubber boots or shoes, tennis shoes, musical instruments, tennis racket, camera, fishing tackle, bathrobe, few sheets of wrapping paper, flashlight, high walking shoes (old, stout shoes will do), raincoat, pencils.

Special Boys' List: Extra pair trousers, cap, outing shirts, belt, baseball gloves, etc.

Special Girls' List: Middy blouses, hair ribbons, bathing slippers, bloomers, one or two ordinary light dresses for Sunday and dress wear, if wished, hot water bottle.

Also be sure to bring with you a few sheets of wrapping paper and some stout twine for the purpose of mailing home your bundles of old clothes.

FROM KATHLEEN PAINTER, DENVER, COLORADO.

A letter from Kathleen came to hand the other day and the spirit of it is so fine that we want to share part of it with you:

"Many days ago I received a letter from you, giving suggestions as to how to get camp registrations, etc., and asking me to write you and tell what I am doing. I have been so busy lately that I haven't had time to write, but I have been getting the registrations. Two weeks ago I went out in the country to a Sunday-school, about fifteen miles from here, and told

And Still They Lead

MISSOURI is still in front in the Conference Pointers Race, but Pennsylvania gained on them some this month. Next month, June, is the last issue of Conference Pointers until September and the June issue will contain the full camp schedules for all three camps. This is an important issue. Let there be one final check up of campers and a big registration this coming month. Up and at 'em, Pennsylvania and the rest of you states. Bring out that dark horse in this 'yere race. States with 100 points or over are listed:

State	Total No. Campers	Campers Subscribing	Total No. Subscriptions	Points

them about the new camps at Geneva Glen, and I got two registrations right there."

And then Kathleen tells of holding a meeting in a small town nearby, in the interest of the Rocky Mountain Camp, of the Denver Geneva Club giving "The Spirit of Geneva," of invitations to speak in Sunday-schools, and for the Geneva Club to repeat their play in one of the largest Sunday-schools of the city, of a party that the old campers will hold for the newly registered campers from Denver and vicinity, and winds up by saying, "I am hoping to send in the rest of the scholarship fund the end of this week."

This is a fine demonstration of the "Geneva Spirit" at work, getting results.

Write in and tell us what you are doing.

THE ALUMNI FUND.

Velma Reinhart as chairman of the Alumni Fund Committee is doing a mighty fine piece of work. Velma is just as "peppy" as ever and is keeping right after her graduate bunch. She says she wants them all in the fold, so you graduates may expect to hear from Velma several times, on the subject of the fund. The alumni are using their fund to fix up the Grail at Conference Point. The following contributions have been received:
